Very fine port

IT looks like Premier Bligh shouldn't have too much trouble flogging the Port of Brisbane, given that the books seem to be in pretty good nick.

The port has just won a major gong in the 2009 Australasian Reporting Awards at a gala function at Crown Towers in Melbourne, picking up the special awards for public sector organisations for "communication and governance" reporting.

It comes on the heels of the port winning annual report of the year in 2007.
